

Junior Autosar (m/w/d) Software Engineer

Location: Lindau / Hybrid

Working time: Fulltime

WHAT WE DO - AND WHY TO JOIN US!

The FEV Creltec offers a unique customer-oriented service through the combination of many years of experience and technical know-how. We develop future mobility solutions with a focus on E-Mobility, ADAS and software solutions. Our expertise, especially in automotive and aerospace industries, allows us to find innovative solution for the diverse challenges of our customers. If you are looking for a new challenge, come and join us.

TASKS

- You create design, implementation and verification of basic software components in AUTOSAR Classic using (Embedded) C-SW
- You develop for adaptive AUTOSAR-System
- You perform all integration relevant steps such as compilation/linking, flashing as well as integration tests
- You perform bug fixes at the target HW on the vehicle
- You regularly go into technical discussions with the costumer and the supplier
- You control and coordinate external partner who are available to support you in your project

QUALIFICATION

- You have successfully completed a degree in computer science, electrical engineering, electronics or a comparable degree
- You have experience in the configuration and integration of AUTOSAR software
- You may have familiarity with modeling languages and model-driven engineering
- You have good knowledge and basic experience in the development of embedded software
- You may have knowledge of German and very good knowledge of spoken and written English
- You have a high degree of flexibility and innovative ability even in challenging project situations
- You have a high level of responsibility, very good analytical skills, as well as strong communication skills
- Teamwork in international and global teams as well as independent and responsible action round off your profile

WHAT WE OFFER

Shape the mobility of tomorrow

Work on innovative and cutting-edge challenges.

Work flexibly

Satisfied employees do an outstanding job. Our flexible model of scheduling work, our attractive remote-work-model will allow you to find a perfect balance between your personal and professional life.

Experience appreciation

An attractive base salary and numerous other benefits offer new opportunities for you.

Diverse career prospects:

Your career path is clearly defined and tailored to you. An open feedback culture and various internal and external training opportunities enable you to discover and perfect your strengths. Regular feedback discussions and project evaluations give you the opportunity to reflect on your work and development.