

Junior Functional Safety Engineer (m/w/d)

Location: Lindau / Hybrid

Working time: Fulltime

WHAT WE DO - AND WHY TO JOIN US!

The FEV Creltec offers a unique customer-oriented service through the combination of many years of experience and technical know-how. We develop future mobility solutions with a focus on E-Mobility, ADAS and software solutions. Our expertise, especially in automotive and aerospace industries, allows us to find innovative solution for the diverse challenges of our customers. If you are looking for a new challenge, come and join us.

TASKS

- Define and design automotive software architecture for safety-critical software in collaboration with systems-, hardware- and software engineers
- Development of requirements for safety-critical systems
- Development of safety analysis (FMEA, FTA, FMEDA, DFA)
- Review of safety requirements / safety architecture
- Communication with safety manager and suppliers
- Collaborate with other projects team members with regards to ISO26262 work products implementation

QUALIFICATION

- You have successfully completed a degree in computer science, electrical engineering, electronics or a comparable degree
- You have basic knowledge regarding the meaning of safety for E/E systems
- Your written and spoken English is excellent, knowledge of German is beneficial
- You have a high degree of flexibility and innovation capability even in challenging project situations
- You have a high sense of responsibility, very good analytical skills, as well as strong communication skills
- Teamwork in international and global teams as well as independent and responsible action round off your profile

WHAT WE OFFER

Shape the mobility of tomorrow

Work on innovative and cutting-edge challenges.

Work flexibly

Satisfied employees do an outstanding job. Our flexible model of scheduling work, our attractive remote-work-model will allow you to find a perfect balance between your personal and professional life.

Experience appreciation

An attractive base salary and numerous other benefits offer new opportunities for you.

Diverse career prospects:

Your career path is clearly defined and tailored to you. An open feedback culture and various internal and external training opportunities enable you to discover and perfect your strengths. Regular feedback discussions and project evaluations give you the opportunity to reflect on your work and development.